1. The new airport near Batovo is actually located five meters [source probably means kilometers] east of the center of Batovo, near the point where the boundaries of the USSR, Poland and Czechoslovakia meet. The airfield is approximately 3500 meters long, and 2000 meters wide.
2. There is a hill called 'Jewish Pasture', along the length of the field in which are 24 hangars. Each hangar measures 60 meters (length, in the hill) by 49 meters. There is a distance of 100 meters between hangars. The area immediately in front of the hangars is concrete, and three concrete strips run from the concrete area to the runways.
3. The field has four parallel runways, each 2000 meters long.
- 25X1X 4. [REDACTED] I observed tri-motor planes with two pilot seats. I do not know what type of planes these were. The turnover of planes at the field was high, so I do not know how many planes were there at any given period.
5. The airfield was guarded very carefully. Single guards were stationed at 100 meter intervals.
- 25X1X 6. I did not observe any antiaircraft guns at the airfield. [REDACTED] When I left, the airport was completed.
